

In Re Clark,
Del. Supr., 250 A.2d 505 (1969)

Disciplinary Rules: DR 9-102

Nature of Case:

The Censor Committee filed with the Supreme Court its Final Report wherein that Committee found that the Respondent, over a period of approximately 15 months between the spring of 1967 and the summer of 1968, used for his personal purposes funds in the amount of approximately $100,000.00, received by him as attorney for and on behalf of several clients. The Committee recommended that disciplinary action be imposed.

Action Taken by the Court:

The Court adopted the Censor Committee's Final Report and recommendations and the Court ordered that the Respondent be disbarred and that his name be stricken from the roll of attorneys.
